Share With Peers

If you have a project that you feel has made a significant improvement, or an innovation you'd like to share with your peers, now is the time to submit an abstract to the ICWMM. Don't miss the chance to showcase your best project!

Acceptance will be intimated promptly and formatting instructions for the final paper will be mailed to the authors. Accepted abstracts will be published in the conference program. Conference papers are automatically submitted for publication review in the Journal of Water Management Modeling.

SUGGESTED TOPICS

- 2D Modeling
- Wetlands, BMPs, SUDs, TMDLs and LIDs
- Urban water system modeling
- GIS, FM/AM and CAD systems
- Decision analysis systems
- Bio-computing (genetic algorithms and neural networks)
- Using computer models to resolve real pollution problems / eco-restoration
- Surface water quality modeling
- Modeling impacts on aquatic systems / habitats
- Stormwater / pollution management modeling
- Urban drainage system design and analysis
- Field data monitoring and instrumentation
- Climate change and system security
- Policy, legislation, permitting and enforcement

Submission Process

1. SUBMIT YOUR NOTICE OF INTENT

Email your Notice of Intent to submit an abstract. Include the title/topic, a brief outline (if possible), and authors' names and contact information. Please indicate which author(s) will be presenting. We will contact authors to submit an abstract. If possible, notices of intent should be submitted by December 31, 2017.

2. SUBMIT YOUR ABSTRACT

Email your Abstract. Abstracts should describe the presentation of your paper in approximately 300 words. We will accept abstracts until the program is full but, if possible, would like abstracts submitted by February 3, 2018.

3. FORMAT YOUR PAPER

Final papers should be no longer than 25 pages. For a paper template (in Microsoft Word format), formatting instructions, unit conversion tables, author checklist and more, visit our For Authors page on the Journal of Water Management Modeling site.

4. PRINT & SIGN TRANSFER OF COPYRIGHT Print and sign the Transfer of Copyright form. This must be submitted with your final paper. This transfer is not in any way restrictive, but merely protects CHI from violating other publishers' prior claim.

5. SUBMIT YOUR PAPER

Papers are due at the conference, except in the case of papers accepted immediately prior to the conference, which are due March 31, 2018.

If your paper is ready before the conference, email your paper to us. Don't forget to attach the signed Transfer of Copyright form.

If you are giving us your paper at the conference, please bring an electronic version of your paper on a USB flash drive. Don't forget to bring your signed Transfer of Copyright form with you.
